A Heavy Decrease in the Number of Failures.

ORE AND BULLION SHIPMENTS.

Business Changes—Utah's Failures—
Bank Receipts—Flagstaff—
Salt Lake Letter.

There have been no quotations in local stocks during the week except those noted in the New York markets. Business generally has shown some improvement, yesterday particularly being a prosperous Saturday.

THE HERALD is indebted to Mr. Geo. Osmond, general manager of Dun's Commercial Agency for this section, for a comprehensive and convenient table entitled, "The Business Outlook," which contains the record of failures in the United States and Canada for the first half of the present year. The compiler says that "the figures show that the failures in the United States, for the first half of 1886, are 5,156 in number, as compared with 6,004 for the same period last year, a decrease of 848. The liabilities also for the first half of the present year show a marked decline, amounting to only $38,500,000, as compared with $74,000,000 for the first half of 1885. The very marked decrease in the number of failures indicates that the trade of the country is in a state of surprising prosperity, when we consider the strain which the commercial body has been called upon to undergo from the loss of confidence incident to the widely extended labor troubles of the last few months."

The table gives as the total number of failures in Utah for the first six months of the year 3, with liabilities of $11,597; for the same period last year the total was 13 with liabilities of $224,485, and for the same period in 1884 the total was 20 with liabilities of $131,230, figures which certainly reflect decidedly in favor of the present.

Total shipments for week, $184,644.19

Flagstaff.

A proposal is before the shareholders in the original Flagstaff Silver Mining Company of Utah, Limited, and the Flagstaff District Mining Company, Limited, both of which companies went into liquidation some time ago, to consider an offer for acquiring and working a silver mine adjoining the Flagstaff and Emma mines, in Utah. It is proposed to incorporate a new company in London with a capital of $350,000 in 21 shares; 50,000 fully paid shares will be handed over to the vendors for the transfer. The remaining shares will be offered in the first instance, to the old Flagstaff shareholders in the following manner, namely, each £10 share in the original Flagstaff Company to be entitled to five shares in the proposed new company, and each £1 share in the Flagstaff District Company to be entitled to one share, such shares to be issued to the old shareholders or their nominees with its share credited as paid up thereon. An agreement to this effect will be duly registered. A cash capital of $15,000 will thus be raised, and the whole of this will be applied to working the mine. The vendors will visit London and Glasgow in August, when it is proposed to hold meetings of the old Flagstaff shareholders in those cities. This scheme is said to have the cordial approval of some of the principal Flagstaff shareholders in London and Glasgow. The mine referred to is in the same mineral belt as the Emma and Flagstaff, and it has been favorably reported on by two English mining experts.

SALT LAKE NOTES.

Last year's favorable output of the many mining camps tributary to the ore market of Salt Lake City continues this year under the well-sustained price of lead, notwithstanding silver has had a steady tendency downward in value. Some of the old districts—in fact, nearly all the old mining districts—are to the front as steady producers, notably Bingham, "the old reliable," as it is called; Stockton, Oquir, Dry Canyon, Tintic Park, and the Cottonwoods. All these districts contribute ore to the Salt Lake ore market, as well as ship to ore-reducing centers farther East.

There is considerable rivalry and high bidding for carbonate ores, so much that the smelter's profit, I fear, is one of those imaginary things that figures cannot reach. The proportion of sulphide ore requiring roasting, and oxidation become greater every year as the mines attain depth, and in their treatment smelters find their greatest profit, although they have slowly and reluctantly increased and perfected their facilities for treating them. Yet the day is not far distant when carbonate ores in quantities like quantity will be a thing of the past, and the unchanged ores will be the main reliance of the miner and smelter.

Bingham Canyon perhaps presents the earliest and strongest example of the replacement of carbonates by sulphides in mining to the deep. The sulphide ores carry lead, silver and gold as saving metals, with iron enough to make a desirable flux.

Under the stimulus, therefore, of a growing market of these ores, the mine owners are awakening to a sense of the value of their mines in depth, and some are sinking or driving tunnels to open them more extensively.

The deepest point reached has been by a British New East Chance Company, which, by a tunnel 11,500 feet in length, has just tapped the vein at a depth of 1,900 feet, and has begun to drill on its course with flattering prospects.

The operations of this company will be watched with much interest; for its vein near the surface, and to a depth of about 400 to 500 feet, yielded it is said, about $1,000,000.

The vein is a masterly one, as a course northeast and southwest, and dips almost vertically at the discovery shaft. The formation is syenite.

The history of the company has been like that of many other English corporations that have passed through a long, continued experience of mistakes and disappointments, through all of which, however, the property has been held, and is now judiciously prospected and managed by a capable mining superintendent of more than local experience and reputation.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, June 23.

Crescent.

A 350-ton lot of concentrates which brought nearly $40 to the ton was sold at McCornick's yesterday. The meeting of the directors which was to have occurred to-morrow has been postponed till the 27th. There are a good many hopes of a dividend, but those best informed seem to look with some dubiety upon the prospect.

The Mammoth.

Yesterday was "sale day" of the delinquent shares advertised under the assessment. To oblige the English parties who have not had time to remit, however, the day of sale has been postponed ten days longer.

Bannock.

Yesterday was the assessment day of the Bannock and the substantial shareholders were seen marching to Secretary Thomas' office with their checks in their hands. James & Co. had to put up $6,000 for the stock held in and around the establishment, while the Greenbecks had to draw their check for something over $35,000. The probability is that there will be little or no stock advertised.

The New York Market.

For the week ending July 2d, 2,000 shares of Alice had changed hands at $1.75 and $1.80, closing at the latter figure. Moulton remains dead. Stromont sold at 12c.
